Planning Forum: Community Arts for Street-Involved Youth

Please join us! With support from our friends at Sketch, the Urban Arts Initiative (UAI) is holding a community planning forum to assist us to shape our next steps. The UAI is reaching out to the community to connect with their ideas, knowledge and experiences in order to build upon our emerging and exciting work. We invite you to participate at our forum and join in conversation about youth, arts, creativity and the community.

Thursday, May 30th, 2013
5:30 p.m. – 8:30 p.m.

“For young people, the positive impact of the arts in mitigating the negative impacts of poverty and homelessness is readily apparent. These include benefits such as an increase in community safety, decrease in crime and risky behaviour, increased employment and economic health, and increased personal and community health. In other words, when youth are vibrantly engaged as co-creators in community, everyone benefits”.
